OUR VALUES

Partnership

At Abdulahi Consulting, we firmly believe that collaboration and partnership are fundamental to supporting a greater number of individuals affected by displacement. By working closely with a humanitarian and development actors in field locations or global head quarters, we are able to address complex challenges collectively. This collaborative approach enables us to develop and implement effective solutions that respond directly to the needs of displaced communities in camps and camp like situations often in protracted crisis. Our partnership involves programme implementation, consultancy contracts and or research collaboration which helps address common challenges. We are proud of existing partners and work to achieve common goals.

Our Lasting Impact

At Abdulahi Consulting, our consultancy activities are designed to make a meaningful and enduring difference in the lives of the people we serve. Guided by our commitment to humanistic values and our core principle of 'People Served, Problem Solved', we approach every project with the intention of creating sustainable change. By collaborating with a wide range of partners and stakeholders, we ensure that our solutions are impactful, relevant, and tailored to the unique needs of displaced individuals and their communities.

Our Solution-Focused Approach

At Abdulahi Consulting, we operate as a solution-focused consultancy. Every one of our actions and activities is purposefully directed towards identifying and implementing solutions, particularly in situations that may otherwise seem without hope. Our commitment centres on overcoming challenges and delivering meaningful outcomes for those we serve. Through this focused approach, we strive to bring positive change and address the pressing needs faced by communities in displacement and crisis contexts.

Accountability

We place a strong emphasis on accountability to both our clients and the communities we serve. Recognising the complex power dynamics present in displacement settings, we are committed to upholding all aspects of safeguarding. Our interactions are rooted in a conscious effort to ensure the safety and well-being of every individual, affirming our responsibility to protect and serve with integrity.
